PUBLIC COMMENTS

Bjork announced that River Falls Days will begin this weekend.

DISCUSSION ITEMS

1. Update on Glen Park and Substation Art

Howe checked with Reid Wronski regarding the Glen Park panels. It is staff's understanding that the HPC recommended three images that were approved by the Park Board. The HPC now needs to choose four additional images (7 total). The designers recommend that the images be converted to greyscale or sepia tone for consistency. It was also suggested that explanatory text be incorporated with the images. M. Anderson will bring 11x17 example images to the next meeting. The HPC will ask Hoffman if she would be willing to help with a short narrative for each photo. It is desired to have the image boards created and mounted to the building in advance of a building dedication. The HPC would like to dedicate the boards to the Women's League.

Howe checked with Julie Bergstrom regarding the substation art and was informed that this project will be handled by the Arts Commission and will most likely not involve a historic component. No further assistance is needed from the HPC at this time.

2. Plaque Updates

Howe placed an order for the Veterans Park plaque with Franklin Bronze on June 19, 2019 for a total of $1,231.12. The plaque will be produced and shipped to City Hall before the August 19th dedication. Heidi will find out details on the dedication and monetary contribution for the plaque.

A revised Walker Farm plaque proof is enclosed. Heidi will forward Carol's confirmation that it is set to be ordered when she receives. At that time staff will place the order with Pella Engraving.

3. Update on Local Landmark/National Register Outreach

Howe mailed the letter to property owners on July 1, 2019. She received inquiries from three property owners expressing interest in learning more about the National Registry and one owner that is not interested (403 E. Maple). The addresses of those interested are listed as follows:

1st National Bank, 104 E. Locust Street, Jeff Johnson, President & CEO
104 S. 3rd Street, Jim Pestorious
106 N. 6th Street, Kathryn VanDusartz

The HPC will wait another month to gauge interest and then work with Joe DeRose at WHS to host an informational workshop on National Register designation. If any of the property owners would like to move forward, staff can assist in preparing a grant application to WHS for funding to prepare a nomination application to the National Park Service.

4. Preservation Plan Draft

The HPC reviewed the April draft of the Historic Preservation Plan and directed staff to make minor edits to the document. Page made a motion to approve the plan with edits as directed. Motion seconded by Friede. Motion carried 6-0.

5. HPC Promotions

A total of $2,000 is in the HPC 2019 budget for promotions. Typically, this line item is used for postcards for the River Falls Days parade. The HPC brainstormed additional ideas on how to promote the HPC and their function. Ideas that were tossed out include an updated logo, coffee mugs, polo shirts, building mural (perhaps a 1920s advertisement), and recorded history. Howe will check with Hub70 on design fees for an updated logo.

6. Cascade Mill Plaque/Sign

The wood Cascade Mill sign in Glen Park near the swinging will be removed as part of the Glen Park renovation project. Mike Stifter is working Lyle Signs on a replacement. A proof has been provided (it appears reddish but would print as brown). The dimensions as shown are 7'x8'6" with 2" tall letters, which is consistent with the existing sign. Howe suggested this project go to the HPC for consideration before the replacement sign is reordered.

The HPC questioned why the sign was coming down. Howe will check with Mike Stifter to find out if it is deteriorated. HPC wondered if it could be refurbished by students at the technical school. If a new sign/plaque is to be made, the HPC agreed that the wording should be updated. Wessel noted that the Kinni Corridor Plan includes an overlook that would be a nice location for a new plaque. Heinze noted that this might be an opportunity to expand the current plaque program so that it is more of interpretive signage with images. It was agreed that placement of an image sign should be aligned with to match the historical perspective.
